New Bilingual Company Launches Coaching Program for Bloggers

www.ComoBlog.com/connection provides further information

ANDREWS, NC (JUNE 13, 2015) Como Blog launches its new online community on June 22 giving bloggers and online business owners access to affordable coaching. Other member benefits include a growing library of educational resources, a supportive community, regular interactive coaching calls, and real life connections with other bloggers and business owners.

Founder, Katie Hornor says: “I kept hearing people say, ‘I’ve read the ebooks, I’ve taken the courses, but I need someone who can tell me how all of this applies to MY site and MY business without having to pay hundreds of dollars for coaching.’ Como Blog is meeting that need by providing access to affordable coaching (in English and Spanish) and a supportive business community.”

Alexis Mathews of HealthMattersMedia.com is a charter member. She says: “I love the sense of community and connections in The Como Blog Connection. The one on one support from Katie is second to none. She is a cheerleader, teacher, and a wealth of online business knowledge.”

Those interested can visit <http://comoblog.com/connection> to receive a free ebook entitled 50 Powerful Tips for Successful Business Habits. Those who join The Connection before July 1, 2015 will also receive a free 30 minute coaching session.

The Como Blog website further describes the company’s other products and services and features a bilingual blog with helpful articles and videos for blogging and business.
